SIERRA MADRE, CALIFORNIA — THURSDAY, JAN. 1, 1959

10 PAGES — Vol. 52, No. 12

and Little Red Riding Hood. The float will also contain Captain Hook, Pinocchio and others, and all but one figure will be animated, each containing its own motor. Flowers, of course, will be artfully attached to the float, constructed by many volunteer Sierra Madre workers.

Final Float Assembly Is Now Underway

Final assembly of Sierra Madre's entry in the Tournament of Roses Parade is going forward under forced draft tonight at the City Yard on E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

Volunteers working under flower arrangement chairman Lois and Ed Riggins are decorating the float structure with more than a thousand fresh-cut blooms of chrysanthemums, carnations and sunflowers.

Despite a good turnout of helpers, more hands are needed for the job, according to float chairman Cliff Stowell. Work started yesterday afternoon, shut down last night and resumed at 9 o'clock this morning. Construction of the float superstructure was completed Saturday by volunteers led by Construction Chairman Manuel de la Torre and his assistant, Ralph Rule.

ANIMATED figures in this year's float are the creation of Robert "Bud" Hartman, mechanical engineer, assisted by Wayne Hartwell.

The float committee has gone over the top in its campaign for funds to finance the float. Contributions from business and civic leaders, plus returns from the Rose Sale, have put $1,212 into the committee's coffers — $12 more than the budget estimate, says T.A.D. Fessenden, finance chairman.

Roland H. Rosauer, 371 N. Adams St., won the Rose Sale drawing for tickets to the Rose Bowl Game conducted among contributors to the fund campaign.

CHAIRMAN STOWELL, issuing the committee's thanks to the almost 100 Sierra Madrans who have helped with the float, singled out nine for special contributions of time and effort. They are Robert Castaneda, George Fleming, Barbara Dunnegan, Kay Rule, George Swanson, Larry Bevington, Joan Mac-

22 Bands To March New Year's

The blaring music of 22 bands will provide the rhythm for the marching thousands in the Tournament of Roses Parade.

Biggest groups in the musical lineup are the State University of Iowa band of 120 pieces and the school's Scottish Highlanders of 75 girls and five boys in kilts. The two groups will march fore and aft of the Big Ten float.

ALL TOLD, there will be seven bands from outside California in the parade. Traveling the greatest distance, and making its first appearance in the parade, is the Clifton High School Mustang Band from East Patterson, N.J. The Mount Lebanon High School Band from Pittsburgh, Pa., making its second appearance, is next in line for distance traveled.

The 70-piece Oconomowoc turn to page ten

Donald, Jane Tolfree and Ken Moyer.

Standing by, waiting for the finished product to be turned over to them, are two men who may have the toughest job of all in Sierra Madre's project. They are J. Bryce Tyler and Ben McGee, who will be buried deep in the flowers at the controls for the long hours of the parade.

Winners Are Named in Yule Contest

Winners of the outdoor Christmas decorating contest, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, were announced yesterday by Robert Green.

The winners in each of four sections are Mrs. J. E. Kirkpatrick, 78 Olive Lane; Mrs. W. P. Schroder, 460 E. Grand View; Mrs. R. T. Creed, 524 Manzanita, and Mrs. A. H. Daniel, 225 Oak Meadow Rd. Honorable mentions in each of the sections went to L. B. Cummings, Miss Nancy Solury, C. L. Larsen and Mrs. B. M. McGee.

Susanne de Truan was awarded the best decorated store window. The window shows what paper, paste and a bundle of originality can accomplish. Richard Victor's was awarded honorable mention.

Top Artist to Exhibit Here in January

The guest artist for January in the Gallery of the Sierra Madre Library will be Joe Mugnaini, whose studio was one of the highlights on the art tour last summer. He was also one of the judges for the Purchase Prize this year.

Mr. Mugnaini is a well-known lithographer and his exhibit of drawings should appeal to the public. This exhibit is one of the few held here that ties in with the Library itself, as Mr. Mugnaini has illustrated a number of books and book jackets. Reproductions of them will be displayed in the cases of the Library.

Joe Mugnaini is art instructor at Los Angeles County Art Institute and Pasadena School of Fine Arts. He won many major awards, including the Los Angeles County Museum (annual) and Library of Congress (1954-55-56).

In 1957 he won the "Limited Editions" $2,500 award for his illustrations of the

LIBRARY CLOSED

The Sierra Madre Library will close New Year's Eve at 5:30 p.m. and remain closed all of New Year's Day, Gloria Hinshaw, acting librarian, announced yesterday.

Town Full of Good Decorations

By Gordon Baker Lloyd

"... and all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse."

Any mouse that stirred at our house would be crazy—too many cats! But seriously, I guess you are all decorated and the long time of waiting for the special day is past.

Part of this fun of Christmas has been the things you have made by hand, and the little things you have done for each other. Part also is traveling around in the evenings looking at the spirit shown by other folks in their decorations.

In my part of town I saw some things with good ideas for you next year ... and please now, I haven't covered the whole town or Hastings Ranch which are loaded with lots of good ideas—so don't feel hurt!

THE BEST snowman tumbleweed I have ever seen is at 170 Holdman ... a simple doorway completely filled with a Madonna type niche is 510 Grand View ... if you want to see some jeweled windows look in at 257 Orange Grove ... a lovely house lighting project is certainly seen with blue lights, Christmas tree and all—tastefully done at 225 Oak Meadow ... a cute little scene of carolers is found at 247, San Gabriel Ct. ... and the corner of Sierra Madre Blvd. and Mountain Trail brings a smile with Santa train and all.

And these are only a few. Go around town now and view the work of our neighbors and enjoy some of this fine spirit. A community effort is certainly shown with big lighted candles along Canon ... a nice idea. I wish more neighbors would get together in blocks and do the same.

SOME of these efforts are real elaborate, but here is a simple one, and as you go by you think of all the fun and the friendliness of these neighbors in this project.

And thanks for many of you that came out to studio house to see Christmas in a garden ... warm and wonderful you were—and may the spirit of the season fall on your home as a gentle mantle of snow, from our house to yours, a Happy New Year.

Food Strike Threat To Bypass S. M.

Tuffy Finds Girl Lost In Hills

Minor Harkness and his tracking bloodhound, Tuffy, both members of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Crew, led searchers to a canyon last week where they found a 5-year-old Inglewood girl who had been lost in the San Bernardino Mountains all night.

The girl, Caroline Marie Hendricks, had fallen from a ledge Sunday while hiking with her brother, and had wandered off in Devil Canyon.

Failing to find trace of the little girl, and with low clouds and darkness hampering their efforts, the searchers put in a call to Harkness requesting his bloodhound.

Arriving on the scene at 2:30 a.m., Tuffy picked up the trail and led the rescue party to the canyon where the girl was found at 9:15 a.m. She was frightened and hungry, but unhurt.

Tuffy, incidentally, in addition to having a keen nose, also has a keen appetite. His chow is supplied free of charge by the Sturdy Dog Food Co.

Kiwanis Club To Hear Leader In Graphic Arts

Local graphic arts leader Art Kurtz will address members of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club on advantages of printing as the best means of communication at the club's regular noon luncheon meeting Tuesday, Jan. 6, at the Woman's Clubhouse.

He will speak on "You and I in a Gray Flannel Suit" in conjunction with the Southland observance of the 1959 International Printing Week, Jan. 11-17. He will cite examples of how printing has motivated advertising and our very lives.

City May Get Jet Plane From Norton

The City of Sierra Madre is in the process of acquiring an obsolete jet airplane from Norton Air Force Base, Tom Butch, assistant city administrator, announced yesterday.

The plane, if it is obtained, will be placed permanently in Sierra Vista Park.

Gen. John S. Mills, commanding officer at Norton, is personally working on the project with Mr. Butch, it was revealed in a letter from his office.

New Storm Drain Plans On Boards

The engineering contract for additional storm drain work in Sierra Madre has been awarded to Perliter and Soaring, it was revealed at a meeting of the City Council last week.

The company submitted the low bid of $13,000, which is $4,216 under the amount Sierra Madre had allotted for engineering work.

This city will receive $234,000 for actual construction as its share of the multi-million dollar bond issue which was approved by L.A. County voters last month.

Drains planned here include one from Monterey through to Orange Grove, a second in Orange Grove near Canon, and two projects in Grand View, one from Stonehouse Rd. west, and the other from Sunnyside to Lima. City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington said work could not start until next summer.

Local Markets To Stay Open

No food shortage threatens Sierra Madre because of the pending county-wide food market strike.

That was the word at press time to The News from operators of Sierra Madre's home-owned markets. All three of the city's locally-managed and operated food stores will remain open, and normal hours of operation will be maintained.

No effort will be made to capitalize on the adversity strikebound stores may suffer, one owner told The News.

"We will not remain open longer, operate on Sunday, or otherwise change our regular operations," he said.

ALL CHAIN-OPERATED markets in the area—Safe-way, Shopping Bag, Market Basket—presumably will be closed, if the Retail Clerks Union walks out Wednesday night when an industry-wide labor contract expires. The major chains are members of the Food Employers Council, which so far has maintained a united front in the face of demands from the union.

Those demands include a wage and benefit package boost of $2.4 cents per hour spread over five years. On wages, the clerks want cost-of-living, lost purchasing power and a productivity pay raise of 55 cents an hour; this at the rate of 25 cents per hour next year, and 7½ cents an hour in each of the succeeding four years. The 16½ cents differential covers health and welfare and pension demands.

SPOKESMEN for the Food Employers have rejected the union's demands, claiming that they could not be met without increasing prices to the consumer "across the board." Union spokesmen deny this, declaring that if premium-pay night, Sunday and holiday operations were eliminated, employers could save 25 cents an hour on every hour worked by every union employee.

At present, union clerks receive a $2 premium above regular scale for night work.

20 Days Left In Emblem Contest Here

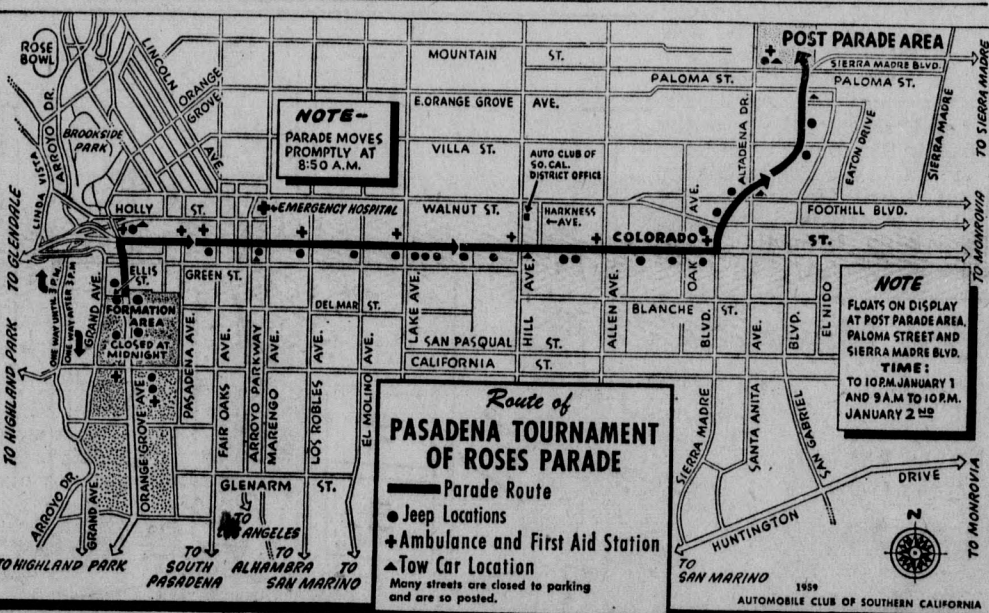

Only 20 days remain to submit an idea or sketch in the city emblem contest, Col. Walter D. Thurber, contest chairman, reminded Sierra Madrans yesterday.

Several designs have already been submitted. Col. Thurber said, but the winning one may still be on the drawing board. A $50 prize will be awarded to the winning entry.

Ideas must be delivered or postmarked to the Chamber of Commerce office, 64 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., not later than Tuesday, Jan. 20.

The list of rules follows:

1. Anyone who is a resident of Sierra Madre may enter.
2. Entries will be submitted by an individual or by groups and organizations in the community.
3. The emblem should be symbolic and descriptive of Sierra Madre.
4. It should be one that will stand the test of time.
5. A rough sketch of the idea should be submitted, accompanied by a descriptive of less than 100 words.
6. The emblem may be in color.
7. The sketch is of main importance but if appropriate to the design, the emblem may contain not more than six words.

Happy New Year

This is the season of gifts, joy, good will toward men and high hopes for the new year. So, in the spirit of the times, here is a gift list which should make the recipients even jollier in 1959 than they were in the year that just ended.

To Mayor Charles H. James, first resident of our city—a time machine with which to speed up City Council meetings.

To City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington—an aluminum stomach lining, an electronic brow wrinkler and, for particularly obstreperous visitors, a .45 caliber colt automatic.

TO POLICE CHIEF Gordon McMillan—a 90-man force with which to answer every single complaint.

To Newell Barrett—all the leftover "Knowland for Governor" buttons.

To Mrs. Mac Cason—all the leftover "Brown for Governor" buttons (there aren't any).

To Noren Eaton—a master plan for the rejuvenation of the Old, Old Guard.

TO AL SUMAN—a two-headed pen with which to write letters to the editor and art reviews at the same time.

To Mrs. Estelle Drobeck—a megaphone for use at City Council meetings.

To Rev. Chilton C. McPheeters—a released time program every day.

To Rev. Harley Gibbs Smith Jr.—Christmas every month and another batch of puppies.

To Col. Walter D. Thurber—a pair of roller skates.

TO TOM SCHWARTZ—a seat on the County Democratic Central Committee.

To Emile Smith—a life-time pass to Santa Anita.

To Tom Marchine—a stop watch for use at 2 a.m., and a shillelagh, for use at any time.

To everybody in Sierra Madre and vicinity—Happy New Year.—H.W.E.

Lee Shippey asks What Do You Think?

My last week's column was written before I learned of the passing of Oskar Seiling, and I have just heard of the death of Carlton Pegler. Those two very different men did a lot for Sierra Madre in their very different ways. When Oskar and Louise Seiling enjoyed good health—and how they did enjoy it!—Sierra Madre enjoyed a wide reputation as a musical center. About once a month, in good weather, from 50 to more than 100 musicians and music lovers from Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Long Beach and other towns gathered at the Seilings' for the sheer joy of eating, drinking, playing and singing together, and all those persons and personalities not only respected Oskar and Louise as great in their fields but were fond of them as companions.

I suspect the musical atmosphere they created had something to do with the inspiring of Oscar Rasbach, then a young piano teacher here, to composition.

THOUGHTS

OH, THANKS FOR THE CHRISTMAS CARD

BUT LET'S FACE IT...

SURE SENT CHEAP LOOKING ONES THIS YEAR

THAT NATIONAL HOOKUP WAS THE THING WHICH STARTED "TREES" ON ITS GREAT SUCCESS, WHICH NOW IS INTERNATIONAL. WHEN MY WIFE AND I WERE IN EUROPE A FEW YEARS AGO WE SAW "TREES," PAR OSCAR RASBACH, ADVERTISED ON A SHEET OF FRENCH MUSIC, AND I HAVE NO DOUBT IT IS EQUALLY POPULAR IN MANY LANDS. THE ONLY BAD THING ABOUT THAT WAS THAT THE RASBACHS BECAME SO PROSPEROUS, AND SO IN DEMAND AMONG THE WEALTHY FOLK IN SAN MARINO, THAT THEY MOVED FROM SIERRA MADRE. BUT SIERRA MADRE WAS THE PLACE OF ARTISTIC INSPIRATION, ESPECIALLY FORTUNATE IN ITS BEAUTIFUL TREES.

TOYS FOR TOTS

Dear Sir:
The U.S. Marine Corps Reserve has just completed the 11th annual "Toys for Tots" campaign.

We are pleased to report that, thanks to the generosity of the warm-hearted citizens of Sierra Madre, many less fortunate children enjoyed a merry Christmas, complete with dolls, games and other unexpected gifts of toys, donated by the citizens of Sierra Madre.

Those of us in the 7th 75MM AA Battery, U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, Pasadena, wish to take this means to thank everyone in Sierra Madre who donated toys to "Toys for Tots."

Also, we wish to express our appreciation to the Sierra Madre News and all the people of your staff. Your support was a most important factor in the success of the 1958 "Toys for Tots" campaign.

The entire experience has been, for us, most satisfying. Again, our thanks to everyone.

Sincerely yours,
K. R. WHITE, Captain
U.S. Marine Corps Reserve
Commanding Officer

PRAISES CITY

Now that our festive holidays are nearly over, may I say and give to all a few reminders to our Sierra Madre residents.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can you shop and visit on the sidewalks and listen to stereophonic Christmas carols, recorded especially for your pleasure? Thanks, Mr. Engle.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can you attend a Firemen's Ball for the sum of one dollar, and see your old and new friends and still know your firemen personally. Thanks, all firemen.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can you make a quick phone call and say "Don, Ralph, Rudy, Mr. Mac or Arnold, wrap up the big wish and I'll pick it up when I get there." Thanks, all businessmen.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can you stand in the center of town, protected by our friendly Police Department, and hear the combined youth and adult choirs of all our churches with raised voices in traditional songs that we all love to hear and sing? Thanks, Police Department and choirs and leaders of churches.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can a small child with all "home-made" handy work be given an award for a manger scene made from palm fronds and her favorite doll? Thanks, Chamber of Commerce.

Where, but in Sierra Madre, can you take your family and friends to Memorial Park on Christmas Eve and have Santa arrive promptly at 7 p.m. on the new fire engine with a full stocking of goodies for each child who is near. Thanks again firemen.

Let us forget too soon these luxuries that a small city does provide for its people—let's stay and do all these in the coming year in Sierra Madre!

VISIT WITH CARDS

Dear Sir:

This is the time of year when Uncle Sam's mail, carried from door to door in the overstuffed pouches of diligent postmen, is extremely heavy. It allows us to communicate freely with relatives, friends and neighbors.

At other times we are almost completely isolated from them by dense, impenetrable jungles of frustrated horn honkers and by an intense preoccupation with earning a living and attending to the gadgetry of modern luxurious living. The penetration of our modern, motorized jungles, for a cross town visit, has become as hazardous and time consuming as a pioneer exort journey through hostile Indian country.

Consequently, visiting is

LAFF OF THE WEEK

Around the Square

By Tommy-Ann Miller

GOODWILL message from the bearer of a quart of home-stomped Greek wine (in a bourbon bottle) mistakenly delivered to a North Sunnyside homestead (it should have gone to friends on South Sunnyside)—"Keep it and Happy Holidays!"

YULE POST MORTEM. Still wondering why the Christmas tree wilted as soon as you put it up. Some of them were reportedly cut in August and frozen for later shipping. Kills 'em dead when they're put in a heated house.

ONE FAMILY wanted a white tree but also wanted to smell fresh greenery, so they flocked a green one white. Result? They are spending the holidays as far from the tree as possible—to keep from gagging on the chemical smell.

TORMENTED TOOTSIES. Kenny Rhodes (on vacation from Santa Barbara College), a substitute mail carrier on Nick's route, limped along with blisters and a wrenched tendon until he could stand it no longer. He made the Christmas Eve deliveries blissfully barefoot.

CARD FROM the Phil Galishaws in Oahu, Honolulu: "The paradise you have been seeking is here—living is cheap—($700 a month ought to be adequate)—son Greg swings through the trees and eats raw fish."

The family moved to the island several months ago, and Phil, former Times editor, is free-lance writing and working for an ad agency.

TRADITIONAL TUNES. Edie Dane and Rosa Cason were again co-hostesses at their third Christmas Eve carol sing (a tradition begun by the Dougherty's) in Edie's patio. About 50 carolers gathered around the fireplace for a capella singing, punch and Santa Claus.

SPEAKING OF Santa—did anyone fail to cache toys in the car trunk?

SOUND HOUND. When 50 searchers failed to find a missing five-year-old girl in the Crestline area last week, "Toughy," sturdy bloodhound, succeeded in nosing her out.

"Toughy" works with the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team and is also available for any State sniffing jobs. His new kennelmate is a lady bloodhound, "Seanine," who recently arrived from Oregon to be tutored in the tracking arts by kennel owners, Miner and Diane Harkness.

FOR A FINE '59, J. Pitfall Kneel suggests:

1. Curtail raucous laughter the morning after.
2. Eschew warm civet-cat stew.
3. Avoid wooly warps that wof in thorps.
4. Keep ever in motion the liver's lotion.
5. Put damsels too rearward for slacks on the racks.

be fired on that account alone.

These are the people you must have had in mind and not gamblers or hoodlums when you mentioned Sen. McCarthy.

The communists held a rally in September, 1957, to, in the words of the "Daily Worker," "pay honor to the United States Supreme Court and its recent decisions."

A majority of state Supreme Court chief justices of the 48 states passed a resolution which stated in effect that the United States Supreme Court is depriving the states of their constitutional rights. We need more men like Sen. McCarthy.

Bitter GOP Struggle Expected Soon

By Robert G. Spivack
IS LIKE A MODERN REPUBLICAN?—The current fight between the liberal and conservative Republicans for some reasons seems unable to evoke more than a wide yawn from President Eisenhower.

It reminds me of a story I heard back when I was in college. A visitor was driving through a small town in which was located the campus of a medium-sized university. The visitor stopped for lunch and noticing that he was near an institution of higher learning decided to take a look at the place.

He passed an amiable-looking lad wearing a turtle-neck sweater and asked the name of the school. "Sorry, sir, I can't tell you," the boy replied. "I just play football here."

Ike, of course, doesn't just play football here. He is an honest, well-meaning man and would like to leave the White House with a reputation for solid achievement. But if he cannot even find time to help his own loyal supporters in the crucial battle for the Republican Senate leadership, then there are going to be even more voters than there were in 1958 who think "Modern" Republicanism is just a phrase, meaning nothing.

FOR REPUBLICANS this struggle is just as bitter and significant as the Democrats' North-South cleavage.

This is the way it now shapes up:

The liberal Republicans have apparently decided to support Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont for floor leader in place of retiring Sen. William F. Knowland. Even if they should finally settle on someone other than Aiken they have definitely decided to make a fight against the pre-arranged selection of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

There are several reasons behind the "insurrection."

The liberal faction, headed by Sens. Cooper of Kentucky, Javits of New York and Case of New Jersey, believes the November elections were a rebuff to the GOP Old Guard. In their judgment this was true from coast-to-coast, except for Arizona. So they feel that any chance for victory in 1960 means the party must move in the "modern manner."

In addition to the pre-election maneuvering, they believe that a Dirksen victory would actually be a victory for Sen. Charles Bridges of New Hampshire, who is generally recognized as leader of the party's ultra-conservative bloc. A main objective of the liberals is to reduce Bridges' power and influence.

And since Bridges is one of Vice President Nixon's staunchest supporters, there are some who also see this as an attempt to make Nixon choose between the party's Modern Wing and its Old Guard. Even if the President stays on the sidelines this battle could, as Dirksen puts it, become "quite spirited."

A BRITISH VIEW OF MRS. NIXON

What are the wives of big public figures like? The question is always asked, but American journalists really write very little about it. Ever since the savage attacks on Eleanor Roosevelt in the '30s there has been a self-imposed restraint in discussing Mrs. Truman, Mrs.

Eisenhower and Mrs. Richard Nixon.

For that reason I am taking the liberty of passing on what the London Spectator wrote in part about Mrs. N. during her recent overseas visit:

"... Mrs. Pat, face to face, is like a Republican Coppelia. She chatters, answers questions, smiles and smiles, all with a doll's terrifying poise. There is too little comprehension. Like a doll she would still be smiling while the world broke.

"Only her eyes, dark, darting and strained, signal that inside the black suit and pearls there is a human being, probably perfectly content not to get out."

OVERHEARD DURING THE NEW YORK NEWSPAPER STRIKE

A printer at a midtown daily became annoyed during a recent negotiation session and wound up a speech with these words:

"The wages of sin are death, but the wages paid by this firm are even worse."

Exercise Brain to Help Prevent Forgetfulness

(Presented as a public service by the Foothill District of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn.)

QUESTION—What causes head noises? Is there a cure for this condition?—H.S.

ANSWER—Head noises, or tinnitus, may be due to many different causes. The most common is due to wax in the ear or the accumulation of fluid in the ear following a cold or sinus attack. This can be easily relieved by proper treatment.

Another type is due to some disease of the hearing nerve. Loud noise, especially of a very high pitch, certain virus diseases, emotional strain and the process of aging often produce tinnitus.

These conditions usually can be cured.

A third type is found in a disease of the bones of the ear called otosclerosis. This disease attacks young adults and is accompanied by a slowly progressing hearing loss. Often one or two operations can relieve the noise and restore hearing in this group.

In the fourth group, the noises and hearing loss are due to damage to the ear drum or ear bones from repeated ear infections. These patients can often be helped by adequate treatment by a specialist.

Q. Please explain adhesive capsulitis, and the treatment for it.—P.A.

A. Adhesive capsulitis is the result of arthritis of the shoulder joint. The tendons which normally slide across the head of the humerus (the bone that extends from the shoulder to the elbow) become adherent to the humerus. This prevents normal motion of the arm. Pain in the shoulder is due to continued inflammation and a pinching of the tendons between the bones as attempts are made to raise the arm.

Treatment consists of manipulation of the shoulders under anesthesia to break up the adhesions between the tendon and the bone.

Q. Can you offer any advice for my elderly father's forgetfulness.—M.J.

A. Forgetfulness is a condition so common with aging that it becomes accepted as nearly normal. Excluding serious diseases and accidents, it is usually the result of one or all of three common conditions: (1) Cerebral arteriosclerosis and small strokes. (2) Changes in association pathways in the brain. (3) The working of Thorndyke's Law—"Within one hour, 90 per cent of what older people read or hear is forgotten, because of mental laziness and habit."

Naturally, the best therapy for this is the continuous use and exercise of the brain, especially in new fields.

THE NEW SHOPPING center at Michillinda and Foothill is rapidly nearing completion, expected in the latter part of January. Shown here is an artist's drawing of the new A & P and Ontra Cafeteria. Construction cost is in excess of $6,000,000.

HOW TO WIN AD-RIME PRIZES

The arrow points to the "Guideline". Keep Your Home Town on the Map. Ad-RIME lines must tie in and rhyme with the Guideline. Your entry MUST carry the "Hidden Slogan." Find it among the ads—one word in each column starting at the left. You don't have to buy anything to win prizes but MUST find and write the hidden Slogan. Preference is given to AD-RIME lines that tie in well and BOOST LOCAL TRADE. Get the swing—the two lines are a "jingle." One which can't win is: "Far-Flung Dollars Leave a Gap." but you must write original ones. Good luck — and keep trying.

Hark, Hear Tale of the Golden Carp

By Al T. Miyadi
THE GOLDEN CARP — Long ago I fished the North Platte.
August in Northern Colorado turns blistering hot. The river is but a stream, its waters clear and cool. The cottonwood trees which line the river banks already have lost their green.
The stillness of the summer heat is broken only by the excited jabberings of the evil crow, the distant muted whine of a tractor.
On the river banks, the huge black snake lazes in the sun.

DOWNSTREAM where the river bends, a boy sits. A giant turtle drifts by. Schools of sucker fish glisten by. And a huge shadow moves slowly by the trunk of a dead tree which marks the river's bend.

"It is he," the boy mutters. "How will I know him?" he had asked his uncle.

And his uncle had answered, "By the golden tail that marks his years."

A quick prayer to winds and Buddha, he scatters his careful hoard of bread crumbs upon the waters.

"When you seek him, be patient," his uncle had said, "for he is old and very wise, a hundred years wise." "I am patient," the boy whispers.

THE SUN is now in the west and the cottonwoods throw long shadows. The wind whispers gently the copperd leaves upon the land.

Again, the boy scatters the bread crumbs. He has no more. Deliberately, he picks up his rod and makes ready. "One cast, and no more," his uncle had said.

"I am ready," vows the boy. Expertly, he flicks the line. A ripple as the fish glides silently from out of the protective shadows. It is a wonderful fish. The scars of battle mark him well; a dozen rusted hooks hang grotesquely from his jaw. His is, indeed, an elder.

"A three century-old carp is but a yearling," his uncle had said. To the right of him, a cow comes crashing. The giant carp reacts instantly back into the shadows.

"Begone, you oaf of sacrilege!" hisses the boy. The cow lurches unthinkingly back into the brush.

AGAIN, with patience beyond his years, he waits. The shadows around him loom larger. Finally, the boy concedes a gentle twitch of the line.

Suddenly, the fish flashes golden. Riding the crest of a watery explosion, the carp tails into the sunlight.

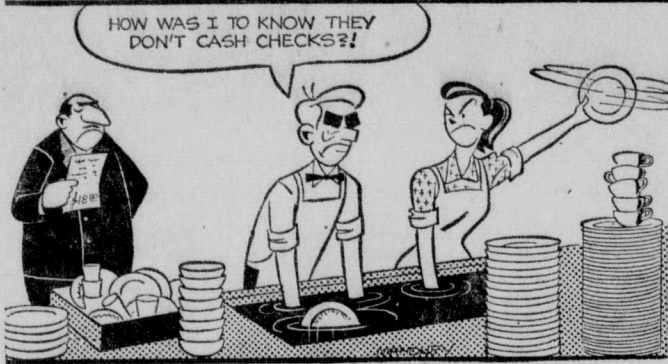

Again and again he leaps, each higher than his last. "Point the tip of your rod to the heavens," his uncle had said.

But he does well to hold the rod at waist's level. The tiny red screams. The line floats slack upon the swirling waters.

Silence returns to the river. Somewhere in the ap-

'Waltz of Toreadors' Is Frank and Witty

By Edward Voorhees

Friday evening, Dec. 26, saw the opening of the Pasadena Playhouse production of "The Waltz of the Toreadors" by French playwright Jean Anouilh, which won the New York Critics' prize for 1957.

A farcical satire on romance with serious undertones, it has a cast of 11, headed by John Abbott, English actor, who played the lead in the New York production, as the French General Leo St. Pe, a philanderer; Malda Severn, as his "invalid" and frustrated wife; Nestor Mitto as his young secretary, Gaston, who is a ward of the parish priest; and Elaine Edwards as the high-born Mlle. de Ste. Euvette.

THE LATTER and the general had met at a grand ball 17 years before the opening of the play's action, fallen "deeply" in love while dancing the Toreador Waltz, and the general had asked the young girl to wait for him until his wife died, which she had promised to do.

Meanwhile, the general goes on with his philandering, spoiled by the ease of his numerous conquests, and constantly tormented by his neglected but determinedly possessive wife, whose accusing and questioning voice pursues him from her adjoining bedroom throughout the hours when he is trying to dictate to Gaston the chapters of his romantic novel.

But a still deeper struggle is going on within the general's bosom, for like all rouses he is paying the usual penalty of being bored with life except when in pursuit of his quarry in another affair. If only he were free to marry his dream-girl — all others quickly leave him proaching dusk, a donkey brays.

YET THE BOY still sits on river's edge. He never went back. It was like that so long ago.

And each year as the carp banners fly, I think of the Golden Carp of the River Platte.

And I know he's still there. For he is wise, a hundred years wise.

Never Look Gift Plant In Mouth, Care for It

Wherever you go these days, you're apt to see a Christmas gift plant screaming for attention. Blooms wilt and leaves begin to dry. Some of them even die before people realize they need attention.

To hear the California Association of Nurserymen tell it, it's enough to make a nurseryman cry. These were plants which took weeks of attention to make them arrive at a perfect state for the Christmas trade. To see them abused is hard on the heart.

Probably the most abused of all gift plants is the azalea. It demands frequent watering and will not be happy with anything else.

IF YOU RECEIVED one of these lovelies, plunge the pot in a sinkful of water two or three times a week. After plunging, let the excess water drain off and return the plant to its show place. When blooms have faded, transplant in the yard or merely sink the pot in the ground. Come next season and you'll have another potful of color.

African Violets are probably next in line for abuse. An indoor plant, they can be kept in bloom through much of the year with proper treatment. Don't leave them far from window light for long.

On the other hand, don't place them in a window where sun bakes them. An east exposure usually gives the African Violet a proper amount of light. Keep soil moist, but not soaked and feed with African Violet food about once a month. Be careful of gas-heated rooms—tolerance is low.

Cyclamen should be planted out as soon as its decorative value is no longer needed inside. Blooms will usually prolong themselves through winter if you plunge the pot in a light—even sunny—location outside and keep it moist if rains fail.

TO SAVE THE traditional poinsettia for another year of bloom, keep it moist until it stops blooming—inside or out. When blooms fade, stop watering and move the plant to basement or garage. It will dry completely and you can ignore it for about three months.

Come May and you can report it to a larger pot, first washing the soil off the roots. Use a mix of leaf mold, loam and sand. Cut the stems back to about 4 or 5 inches. Move it into a sunny spot and wait for it to grow a new top. Next year, move it into a warm room about a month before you want it to bloom. In warm areas, makes suitable outdoor plant. Cut it down each

December 30th. That gives me two more days leeway before I have to commit myself to a bunch of foolish resolutions that I know I won't be able to keep. I did a little better this year. I threw away my list early in the month of January so I didn't feel guilty the rest of the 11 months. Nonetheless, I will ponder the situation and go through with the gesture. Habit is strong.

The main purpose of this column today is to wish you all a safe and wonderful new year. No one wants to end up a statistic come January 2nd, so it's up to all of us to drive safely and sanely!

PARTIES, parties, parties, everyone has been in a party mood for weeks and there has been so much entertaining going on I have had a hard time staying home to find out where it has been.

MR. AND MRS. John Willis of Doynce Road were joined on Christmas day by out-of-town visitors from Walnut Creek. They were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McVicar. Mr. Willis' mother, Mrs. A. Lawbon, also came up for the day. The entire group went over to Glendale to have dinner with Mrs. Willis' mother.

DR. AND MRS. John Evans of Claremea Lane held an open house last night for 150 people. The guests of honor were Mrs. Evans' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Willard White, from New York City. They came out on the 18th, with their three boys, Stephen, Carl and Larry, to spend the holidays and to see the game. They plan to return home on the 3rd.

MR. AND MRS. Millard Jacobs of Kinneloa Mesa opened their home for an open house last Sunday from 5 to 8. There were around 70 guests there at their buffet dinner. It was the first time for many of their friends to see their beautiful new home.

THE P. L. WETCHERS of Kinneloa Mesa have been among the busy people of the season. They had their annual open house for 36 that included friends from all over. Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Harley Boisen and their three children, Brad, Kathy and Kent, came down to stay for a few days with them and to see the parade, and on New Year's eve they expect 15 for dinner.

THE J. C. WILFONGS of Mesa Loza Lane had a small cocktail party last week to introduce their new neighbors around. The new neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly, who bought the Bucher home, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barnard, who built a new home on Mesa Loza.

MR. AND MRS. Speltz Parker of Country Lane had an open house last Saturday night that included over 100 people. It was a combination party which included many of Mr. Parker's co-workers as well as their many local friends. A buffet was served all evening long.

THE L. T. GREINERS of Claremea Lane had a wonderful Christmas. Their son and new daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Greiner, came out from Lawrence, Kan., to spend the holidays with them. They will be here until after the first of the year. On Tuesday Mrs. Greiner is having about 40 or 50 guests in for a cocktail party to introduce the new Mrs. Greiner to her many friends. Their other son, Larry, spent his Christmas in New York.

THE HENRY BECKERS of Sierra Madre Villa had 18 of their friends for dinner during the season, with dancing and singing as a feature of the evening.

MR. AND MRS. John Chapman of Old House Road entertained the entire staff and their husbands and wives of the Los Angeles agency of the Home Life Insurance Co. at a cocktail and dinner party last week.

AND THE children were not forgotten. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Skipper Rostker of Barhite, entertained their friends at an afternoon reception on the 27th.

Francises Host Block Party

Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Francis, 1180 Tropical, served cocktails last Monday evening to the neighbors in their block.

Among those invited were Mr. and Mrs. William Hillard, Dr. and Mrs. Nate Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Nate Dan-chik, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Melly, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Pontius, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Seurr and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Edgmon.

Hastings Ranch News

JOHN ABBOTT and ELAINE EDWARDS, melodramatically disillusioned lovers, share "The Waltz of the Toreadors," provocative French farce which opened Dec. 26 at the Pasadena Playhouse.

UP ON ...

Hastings Hill

It's too late to make much of fifty-eight, But there's plenty of time in fifty-nine!

Young residents of Hastings Ranch who used to need a baby sitter so their parents could go out New Year's Eve, are merrymaking themselves this year. Even so, the ranch isn't exactly growing up. We still get a new crop of babies every year. The kindergartens are overflowing, although vacations bring dozens home from colleges across the nation. The moral of this item is—well, we're not sure.

But we do know the ranch means much to many people who live here. As one up-and-coming young lawyer said a couple of years ago, "I hope I never make so much money we'll have to move away from here." Now the moral of that item is unfathomable, unless you're gray-flannel personified.

One family who won't be hosting any more New Year parties here are the Charles Cowans, who take off for Menlo Park. Chuck is in the insurance business, and when his firm transferred him, he and Kit luckily sold their house here immediately, and luckily found one they wanted right away in Menlo Park. Hastings Ranch Garden Club will have to find another president to replace Kit.

The Cliff Faustus weekend-ed in Borrego Valley, and paid a visit to former owners of their Canfield Road home, the Howarths.

The home-from-college set includes Rhuanna Edgmon, a freshman at Chico State College, and Lynn Wagner, a sophomore at Stanford University.

I wonder how many of you who heard "The Ted Glaser story," an account of the experiences of a sightless designer in the electronic industry on "The Noble Challenger" radio program, knew Ted was a neighbor of yours.

Ted, with his wife, baby and "Asta," his seeing-eye dog, live at 1160 Tropical. He is a senior systems analyst at Electro-Data division of Burroughs Corp. in Pasadena and designs combinations of circuits and units for electronic "brains" produced by his plant, with 40 engineers working under him. Ted, sightless since he was eight, became a semi-professional jazz pianist in his teens and majored in music and drama at Dartmouth. Later in his studies, he switched to physics and at the time of his graduation was employed by a major business corporation where he worked as a computer operator for a number of years before joining the Pasadena firm as chief systems designer.

Marilyn and Dick Shaw entertained 40 of their friends last Saturday night at an open house. Those from the ranch included the Al Pruitts, Ralph Wallers, Richard Majors, Bob Talmos and Toby Toblases.

The Tytars and their children, Tom and Kathy, made the trip with Mrs. Prentice. Also joining the group were the Joseph Parkers of Van Nuys (another sister) and their sons, David and Jimmy. This is the first time in 17 years all of Betty's family have spent the holidays together. The visitors will be leaving for their homes following the New Year's parade.

When Victoria first entered Northwest Respirator Center, Seattle, in March 1957, life seemed pretty hopeless for her as she wore a headling (above) for a neck affected by paralytic polio. One year later (below), treatment made possible by March of Dimes funds permitted Victoria to sit up, play with doll. 1959 March of Dimes will aid children with polio, arthritis, birth defects.

Christmas Coffee Cakes Enhance Breakfast Table

By Toni Maurin
SY 7-9634

I won't take much of your time this week but I thought you might like a couple of suggestions for coffee cakes to enhance your breakfast table.

SOUP CREAM COFFEE CAKE

(Serves 12)

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cups sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
* 1 tsp. cinnamon
2 tbs. melted butter
2 eggs
1/2 pt. sour cream
2 cups cake flour
1/2 tsp. soda
2 tbs. sugar
* 1/4 tsp. mace
* 1/2 cup chopped nut meats

*Topping Ingredients

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, and beat until smooth. Mix in sour cream and vanilla. Sift cake flour, measure, then sift again with baking powder, soda, and salt. Stir in dry ingredients, mixing until smooth. Turn into a greased and floured 9-inch square baking pan. For the topping, mix together the sugar, cinnamon, mace, melted butter, and nut meats, and sprinkle over top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 45 minutes. This cake freezes well, if you care to double the recipe.

THE FOLLOWING coffee cake is a little different from the usual and makes a wonderful breakfast treat:

SUPERB MARBLE COFFEE CAKE

1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 tsp. double acting baking powder
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs unbeaten
1 pt. commercial sour cream
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1/4 cup granulated sugar
2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup light or dark raisins

1. Start heating oven to 350 degrees F. Grease 9-inch spring form pan with tube insert in place or 9x9x2 inch pan. Sift flour with baking powder and soda.

2. In large electric mixer bowl, with mixer at medium speed, or cream with spoon, thoroughly mix shortening with 1/2 cup sugar, then with eggs, until very light and fluffy. Then at low speed, or blend, alternately beat in

Mrs. O'Banion, 35 Years Here, Dies at 74

Mrs. Ansel E. O'Banion, 337 Camillo St., died Monday evening in a Pasadena sanitarium where she had been a patient for 23 months.

As Myrtle Bishop, she was born in Iowa in 1884, married Capt. O'Banion in Orange Calif., and since 1923 has lived in Sierra Madre, where Capt. O'Banion still resides, and where Mrs. O'Banion was for many years an active member of Bethany Church.

Of the couple's two children, a son, George, was killed in a plane crash in 1933; a daughter, Mrs. Howard Sutherland, resides in Alhambra. Also surviving are three Sutherland grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Funeral services will be held at the Ripple Mortuary Chapel on Friday at 2 p.m. Interment will be in the family plot in Sierra Madre Cemetery. Graveside services will be private.

Coord. Council To Discuss City's Water Problems

The future of Sierra Madre's water supply will be discussed at a meeting of the Coordinating Council Jan. 7 in the Highland Ave. school. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

Lawrence C. Bevington, city administrator, will discuss Sierra Madre's recent action in joining a separate water district outside the Upper San Gabriel Valley District and the Metropolitan Water District.

Meredith E. Moseley, 91 E. Orange Grove, will talk on the advantages of belonging to the Metropolitan Water District.

American Legion Band from Oconomowoc, Wis., also is making the long journey. Columbus High School from Columbus, Neb., and the Phoenix Indian School from Phoenix, Ariz., are sending their 84 and 80-piece units.

Northern California will send its crack University of California Band, fresh from a European tour, where it was featured for a week at the World's Fair in Belgium, as well as the St. Mary's Chinese Girls Band from San Francisco.

THIRTEEN outstanding bands from the Southland also will appear in the 1959 Rose Parade.

They include the official Pasadena Tournament of Roses Band, Antelope Valley High School Band, Bonham Bros. Boys Band from San Diego, Coachella Valley Union High School Arab Band, Glendale "Dynamiter" High School Band, Jordan High School Band from Long Beach, Los Angeles Police Junior Band, Mark Keppel High School "Aztec" Band from Alhambra, Salvation Army Band, South Gate City Youth Band, U.S. Marine Corps Band, Dr. Peppers Toppers and the American-Japanese Boy Scout Troop 379 Drum and Bugle Corps.

GRAND MARSHALL—Alaska's United States Senator, E. L. "Bob" Bartlett, will lead 70th Annual Tournament of Roses in his role as grand marshal.

Alhambra Men To Purchase Club 60 Here

Club 60, owned by A. H. Wetherbee for nearly 16 years, is in the process of being sold, it was announced yesterday.

The new owners will be Jack London and Donald J. Copher, both of whom have been in the liquor business for many years. London presently runs a bar in Alhambra, where he resides.

Hollywood Race Track Is Now a Barley Field

A new crop of barley is growing right smack in the middle of the famed horse race track at Hollywood Park in Inglewood. The track isn't going into the farming business by any means. The barley crop is just another move aimed at improving soil life and resiliency so that the oval will be fast and springy for the opening of the thoroughbred season next May.

The big job of planting 2,000 pounds of barley seed on the track was directed by Anthony H. Hansen, plant superintendent at Hollywood Park and a jack-of-all-trades by necessity, inasmuch as his job contains so many strange chores.

Once each year — in December — he dusts off his overalls and gets the huge crop of barley underway.

When the barley is ready for "harvest," some time next March, it will be disked under along with some decomposed straw. Then there will be other elaborate steps to insure that the track reaches perfection by the start of the 55-day racing season in May.

A COLD MAN is extending a warm welcome at Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park during the holidays. The greeter is Frostie the Snowman, one of the few refrigerated snowmen in existence. The 5-foot-high icy figure stands just outside the door to Santa Claus' house at the entrance to Ghost Town. He's an icicle, but the friendliest one in town.

IT'S TIME for gift-giving, and Bubbles, the star trained whale at Marineland of the Pacific, is in the forefront. She donated her favorite barbell to the Marine Corps "Toys for Tots" drive. When a husky marine sergeant visited the oceanarium, Bubbles lifted her barbell out of the water and placed it gently in his hands. The marine accepted it gratefully and then counted his fingers just to make sure.

TWO FORMER stars of show business have retired to live out their years in the San Diego Zoo. They are Rosie, a scarlet macaw and Blueboy, a blue-and-yellow macaw, who were donated to the zoo by Mrs. Lucky Olsen of San Rafael, Calif. She was their trainer for 15 years, during which they appeared on stage, screen and TV, saying words, singing and dancing, as only macaws can. In their new home, the Flamingo Lagoon, they will have a King Tut Cockatoo as a straight man.

EVERY KID who can make it is heading for Santa's Village this month, including Dennis the Menace. The famed comic strip character gave Santa his list early in December and the event is recorded in the Dennis-the-Menace comic book now on magazine racks. Dennis tried his bag of tricks on Santa, but Santa's bag of toys carried more weight and he became one of the few victors over the impish lad.

A MIXTURE of vinegar, sugar, crushed pineapple, onions, tomatoes, and green peppers sounds like something Dennis the Menace would throw together, but it's really the recipe for sweet and sour sauce, as purveyed at the Chinese Kitchen in Farmers Market, Hollywood.

PROBABLY THE world's biggest drapery cleaning job is underway at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in Glendale. Workmen are cleaning the drapery which covers the huge Crucifixion painting
